The financial policy of CK Raghavan Memorial College of Teacher Education

The financial policy of CK Raghavan Memorial College of Teacher Education (CKRMCTE) emphasizes transparent and efficient financial management. Key components include:

1. Revenue Sources: The primary source of income for the institution is fees collected from students, as it operates as a self-financing college under the CKRM Educational Trust.
2. Fund Allocation: Funds are allocated based on institutional needs, ensuring that financial resources are used effectively to support both academic and operational activities.
3. Financial Oversight: Regular internal and external audits are conducted to maintain transparency and accountability in the use of financial resources.
4. Monitoring and Evaluation: Funded activities are routinely evaluated to assess their impact on the institution's growth and student development.
5. Staff Welfare: The college provides financial benefits such as Provident Fund (PF) for all staff and Employees' State Insurance (ESI) for non-teaching staff. Financial assistance is also provided for professional development programs.

These policies ensure the responsible management of financial resources while supporting the institution's overall mission and staff welfare.
